THE TRAINING

A variety of practical exercises will be used to build and enhance orienteering skills. See enclosed sample of training exercises. Different training areas will be established in order to provide familiarization and use of the widest range of skill and terrain possible. Training will be conducted in a round robin fashion. Cadets will move from training area to training area, where they will be instructed on how to complete the designated training site. Cadets should be trained in basic orienteering prior to attendance (See, FLO website tutorials). The focus of the camp is practical application.

* Schools need to bring their own compasses, whistles and flashlights
* All maps will be provided

 An appropriately registered (Meets your school requirements) adult Male/Female Chaperone must accompany and remain with your cadets at all times when not on the training or competition courses ***
